

Some holiday fun: Puzzle supplementary material devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20050704-38

July 4, 2005

Raymond Chen

(Note: This makes sense only after you've gone through the other puzzles.)

In case my friend got stuck, she could call me and ask for a hint. The original plan was that I would charge her a dare in order to get a hint, but it turns out I was too nice a guy to make her do any of the following things, but here's the list anyway:

- Scream "I love you, Seattle!" at a street corner
- Skip across the street
- Walk sideways
- Caress a lamppost
- Dance
- Sing the national anthem (any country) [typo fixed 7/6]
- Ask for directions to where you are
- Recite six lines from a favorite book or poem
- Wave and shout hello to a traffic light

Raymond Chen

Follow

