

Look what the hurricanes blew into Lafayette, LA devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20051103-44

November 3, 2005

Raymond Chen

NPR reports that the influx of people into Lafayette has resulted in the city experiencing in one week the growth it had projected for fifteen to twenty years. It has also revived the singles scene. “Some young women say they’re finding people to date for the first time in years.”

Raymond Chen

Follow

