

Christmas gift idea for your favorite Microsoft fanboy geek with no sense of fashion or taste

---

 devblogs.microsoft.com/oldnewthing/20091221-01

December 21, 2009

Raymond Chen

Then again, the “no sense of fashion or taste” may be redundant. Perhaps you are so enamored of the Microsoft-branded Snuggie you received at the Company Meeting that you can’t keep your excitement to yourself and want to share the joy with a friend. No problem. You can now pick one up at the Microsoft Company Store in Redmond, right across the hall from the Visitor Center. (The Rapture Index ticks up another notch.) “You shouldn’t have.”

Previously, in Christmas gift ideas.

Raymond Chen

Follow

