On an internal mailing list about home maintenance and ownership, somebody asked:

I have a handful of items that I need to get rid of and probably should not toss into the regular garbage. Any thoughts?

- Older TV — 32"
- Propane tanks (full)
- Lighter fluid
- Carpet glue adhesive
- Lawn fertilizer

The best reply was an unhelpful one.

You've pretty much got all the components you need to build a bomb. Why dispose of them?
